

(Warren, OH) U.S. Congressman Tim Ryan (OH-17) made the following comment regarding the groundbreaking of the new Bridgestone technical center in Akron:

“This exciting investment in the Bridgestone technical center will facilitate the creation of good-paying jobs that will keep our kids in Northeast Ohio,” noted Congressman Ryan.

“Today’s groundbreaking is the result of an unprecedented level of public and private cooperation on local, state, and federal levels. These many partners came together to support the continued investments of a company with historic ties to the city of Akron – all to ensure that Bridgestone is provided with the necessary resources to refine their product and continue to serve national and international markets.”
